- This agreement and the availability of complaints and appeals processes does not remove the right of the student to take action under Australia's consumer protection laws.
- The Standards for RTOs require the Institute to inform students considering enrolment of their right to a statutory cooling off period. A statutory cooling off period (which is 10 days) is a period of time provided to a consumer to allow them to withdraw from a consumer agreement, where that agreement was established through unsolicited marketing or sales tactics. These include tactics such as door-to-door sales and telemarketing. A statutory cooling off period allows a consumer to withdraw from a sales agreement within 10 days of having received a sale contract without penalty. It must be noted that our Institute does not engage in unsolicited marketing or sales tactics and therefore a statutory cooling off period is not applicable to our students who have enrolled into a course. For refund options in other circumstances, students must refer to the refund policy.
- The refund policy is subject to review from time to time.
- The Institute recommends that you read the ESOS Framework Information, which provides legislative protection for International students, available at:

<https://internationaleducation.gov.au/regulatory-information/pages/regulatoryinformation.aspx>

There are no Third Party arrangements with the delivery of courses at Abbey College. Abbey College is solely responsible for the delivery of all courses and for the issuance of their certifications. Abbey College is also solely responsible for its compliance.
